MESSAGE

I am happy to know that Sree Chitra Tirunal Institute for Medical Sciences and Technology, Thiruvananthapuram, is celebrating 'Institute Day' on 01st March 2021.

The lofty reputation earned by this Institute on account of high quality patient care and internationally acclaimed research has made the entire nation proud. The focus on technology development and research activities has strengthened the Institute's capabilities in facing the new challenges in the health-care sector.

The Institute Day is also an occasion to recall the initial contributions made by Sree Chitra Tirunal Balarama Varma, the erstwhile Maharaja of Travancore and the Royal family in paving the way for setting up this modern healthcare facility.

Let us also remember the founder Director, Prof.M. S. Valiathan, whose vision and untiring efforts enabled this Institute to emerge as an Institute of National Importance with recognition through an Act of Indian Parliament in 1980.

Over the years, the Institute has progressed well, achieving its objectives and making significant contributions, thanks to the hard work of the able team of doctors, scientists, public health experts, researchers, healthcare staff and administrators.

I compliment all the staff and students of this Institute for their dedication and commitment to uphold the highest professional standards in medical care and research. My best wishes for the success of the Institute Day celebrations.
